Yery little of interest has transpired in the stock mar-et during the past week. Prices have experienced bout the usual fluctuations, but do not exhibit much aristion, compared with those current at the close of ac week previous. There is no speculation in the mar-st. The bulk of the transfers of stocks daily made is om one broker to another, and that class of operators re probably larger holders at this moment than at any revious period within the past two years. It is, there-are, important to them that an upward movement in rices should take place at the earliest moment. We ave, for some time past, been unable to arrive at a sa-sfactory conclusion in relation to the future course of e stock market. The absence of any speculative exnally experienced—more particularly when all the ele-ents of speculation are in such a sound and healthy prise. Any amount of money can be obtained a moment's notice, at the lowest rates of intest, upon the right kind of security. There is a ide margin for an improvement in most of the leading airroad stocks; the outsiders generally, made money aring the last speculative movement in the fancies, and it appears to us as though the time was not far diseriod during the past two years. In the event of such state of things, great discrimination must be used in upon the list, which it would be dangerous to touch espany, and Morris Canal, would not be safe to touch at esent prices, or even at considerable depreciation; inds, Edgeworth Co., Norwich and Worcester, have thin themselves such elements of improvement that ted fancy in the market, and it is a matter of astonish-nt to many, how it is sustained. It is nothing more ents. Farmers' Loan is a stock in relation to which, ry little is known. It is controlled by a small clique especulators, is of doubtful value, subject to great flucsect of which is unproductive. It has on hand any uantity of lawsuits, involving immense amounts of mo-ey, upon the result of which depends the value of the k. It is however, a better security for speculators leal in, who care very little about the real value of y stock, as it fluctuates more, and is more easily ma ged than stocks better known in the market. Canton has been working up for several weeks past, and olders appear to have considerable confidence in it, ne regular annual meeting of the corporation will be eld at Baltimore on the 5th of June. A meeting of astern stockholders was held in Boston a few days ekholders of that city and vicinity, at the annual cting. We shall probably have a report of the vecedings of the corporation, when those inte-sted will be better able to judge of the value their investments. The fluctuations in this ck have, within the past twelve months, been enormous that many have been ruined, and we see good reason why similar results should not follow nilar movements. Canton Company may be, for aught know to the contrary, a very good stock to buy and ep for a length of time; but outsiders of moderate cans, who buy on time more than they can pay for when ne, will, in five cases out of six, be completely cleaned it. Morris Canal is shaking in the wind. The old ock is in a very doubtful position. Consolidation will on take place, when one share of new stock will be is-sed for four of old. What effect this will have upon the arket price of the old stock remains to be seen. The pression is that the consolidated stock will not sell for se is sufficient to attract outside speculators, there is at one opinion among those who have thoroughly inves-gated their affairs. Hariem is, at this moment, a six or cent dividend paying stock on its par value, and here is no doubt but that the semi-annual dividendable on the 1st of August next, will be three per t. More than that per cent will have been earned that time, and there will be surplus enough, af-r paying it, for any contingency; and in view of a future productiveness of the road, the direc-ts can give no reason, that will be satisfactory to stockholders, for declaring a semi-annual divipd less than three per cent. The semi-annual divids last year were two per cent each, and the increase arnings, thus far this year, has been nearly equal to additional two per cent for the whole year on the stock. The Harlem being a full six per cent stock its par value, is, at present prices, one of the cheap-in the market. Long Island offers great inducements speculators and purchasers for permanent investment, e debt of this company is only three hundred and centy-one thousand dollars, and it has on hand cash ugh to meet the outstanding obligations now due, or to become due, as well as to provide for the necesry expenses incurred in re-laying the Jamaica track, id repairing the residue of the road. The gross earnthus far this year, show a large per cent increase those for the corresponding period last. The net rnings last year, 1850, amounted to $50,061 25, equal a dividend on the stock, after paying interest on ot, of seven per cent on the present market ce. This year, the net earnings will not be less in seventy thousand dollars, which will give a handan severity thousand douart which will give a hand-me dividend on the stock. An arrangement has en made with the Brookiya and Jamaica Rail-ad Company, by which the rent paid to that mpany, from and after the 1st of February, 1851, is erially reduced. Under the former a Tangement, upon estimate of $210,000 receipts for 1851, the Brooklyn

Jamaica Railroad Company would receive as rent, for y. ar, $29.571 43, while under the preset arrange

The stock is now selling at a very low price; and in view of the prospective productiveness of the road, it appears There is no doubt but that all the bonded securities of the Brie Railroad Company are good investments at present prices. Some of them pay a high rate of interest on the market value, while their safety is almost beyond a contingency. Norwich and Worcester Railroad stock has been quite steady during the past two or three weeks, and as it is a five per cent dividend paying security on its par value, out of its present net earnings, the probability is that it will gradually improve in market value. This company has a local business nearly equal to its gross receipts, so that it is not dependent upon any through traffic to keep up its dividends. Its carnings, thus far this year, show a handsome increase, compared with last, and a fair surplus will be left at the close of the year, after paying its usual dividends.

lished. These have largely increased, and the whole earnings of the road for the above period, show a gain instead of a loss. It is very seldom that this company makes public any of its operations, and we should not have been favored with the above exhibit but for the purpose of defeating, if possible, the object the Mohawk Valley Railroad Company have in view, viz:—the construction of a road on the south side of the Mohawk river, from Schencetady to Utlea. By showing that there has been a failing off in the receipts of the old Utlea and Schenectady Railroad Company, it is no doubt supposed that the public will be deterred from subscribing to the stock of the contemplated road. The object is too transparent to have the desired effect. The new road can be constructed at a cost equal to about one half the expenditure on the present road; and as the local business of the valley of the Mohawk is derived from the south side of the river, the new road will command much the largest portion, and be in a strong position to compete for the

The receipts of the Rochester and Syracuse Railroad Company during the month of March, amounted to $34,000, against $19,000 for the corresponding month in 1850, showing an increase of $15.000 over last year—a gain of nearly eighty per cent.

The earnings of the Housatonic Railroad Company for April, this year, were $21,305 41, against $17,317 37 for the corresponding menth last year, showing an increase of $3.88504 for the month this year—equal to about twenty-eight per cent. The receipts of this road are derived entirely from its local travel.

The total cost of the Concord and Claremont railroad is $560,624 43. Capital paid in, say $266,031°75. Funded debt, payable in 1855, $100,000. Floating debt, $150,000. The balance of the cost has been furnished by the earnings of the road, &c., &c. The Concord and Claremont is between twenty-nine and thirty miles long, and is said to be well equipped in every respect. Its net earnings sirce its opening in September, 1849, to May 1, 1851, have been $36,738 71, or $1,740 23 more than the aggregate interest upon the whole amount actually expended in construction. This fact should be very encouraging to the stockholders, who are now called upon to take care of the floating debt of the corporation. It is evident that the road would pay good dividends, if it could wipe off its floating liabilities. The investigating committee sppointed at the last annual meeting, speak highly of the condition of the road and its equipment, and of the prudence and system pursued in the management. It appears, also, that the Concord and Claremont has cost but one half as much as the Sullivan, which is a mile shorter, and $300,000 less than the Manchester and Lawrence, which is of equal length to the Concord and Claremont. Considering the length of the main and side tracks, the cost of depots and equipments, it is believed that the last named road is cheaper than any other in New Hampshire
